"For the pick of the Portables"

It's RCA Victor

Says Burr Tillstrom
(Master Puppeteer)

Here's the famous "Globe Trotter" handsomer than ever in lightweight weatherized aluminum and plastic. It plays wherever you do—on AC or DC current or on its battery. Its tiny tubes have passed so many tests they practically have college diplomas! Has exceptional range and power, beautiful tone—the exclusive "Golden Throat."

I've been watching all the singers on television and I think Danny O'Neil is tops. When he sings it hits like a ton of bricks, I think we should start a Danny O'Neil Fan Club.

MRS. ROSEMARY PETRONE

Sir:
Have been followers of TV Forecast since its beginning, and have often wondered if there are any other "four TV set families" that you know. There are nine in our family, and we are all TV fans. My husband says we even watch the bum commercials. Meals are served to the accompaniment of Cactus Jim and Trail Blazers. From then on the four sets are on... we love TV.

FORREST W. MOORE

Sir:
I appreciate curtain calls on Ford Theater. Many times I would have liked to learn the name of a particular actor in a play, but the names are flashed at breakneck speed, except (of course) those of the producer and director, which stand there till they rot. Wish they'd give us a chance to read the players' names.

NEXT WEEK • "Kukla Meets the Press"

Oliver Dragon, well-known reporter, interviews WNBQ television star, Kukla. It's an exclusive feature children and adults will not want to miss. Look for it in next week's TV Forecast on sale Friday at your favorite newsstand.
SAMMY KAYE already is meeting with the approval of Chicago TV fans in his new role as summer replacement for the Singing Barber, Perry Como. A fan club for the WNBQ swing-n-sway maestro is being formed by some Charleston-bitten kids who have switched to Kaye. Believe it or not item: Earl Wrightson, TV baritone, for years has been seeking a quiet spot in the country for an old-fashioned family picnic, only to be beaten out by swarms of New Yorkers. Wrightson finally solved the situation by buying a 52 acre tract in Rockland county. He won't build on it — just wants it for private picnics!

Better check your TV set this weekend. Martha Raye is scheduled to make a guest appearance on Popsicle's Parade of Stars on WBKB. Warning to readers: Beware of racket "talent schools" for television. A number of such schools were recently exposed. Their system was to call names picked at random from phone books, convince victims all they needed was "a little training" for a fee.

"The Web," summer replacement for "Suspense" will not go off in the fall, we understand. When "Suspense" returns, the Goodson-Todman thriller will shift to another time. Latest competitor for the title to succeed the late Will Rogers is Chill Wills. And Wills is bustin' for TV. . . Ed Wynn's favorite dish is holishkas. . . We didn't know what it was either, till we asked the Perfect Fool. Here are the ingredients: beef cooked with rice, wrapped in cabbage leaves, together with mixed vegetables thrown in for the fun. . . Doug Edwards says his show is the oldest sponsored news program on video. Before sponsorship it was seen in 1944. . . Faye Emerson has been declared 1950's best-dressed woman in television by the Fashion Institute.

Only eight months old but wrapping Chicago audiences around her finger is Laura Jacqueline Hubbard, whose ukulele-strumming daddy, Eddie of WBKB, features her as a model for baby clothes and items.

Wyllis Cooper, CBS-TV producer, was a boy bugler with Gen. John "Blackjack" Pershing in his campaign against Pancho Villa. Look for Abe Burrows' autobiography this fall. The raconteur of "This Is Show Business" reveals all.

Joan Barton, WGN-TV singing star, loves telephones, has them installed in her car, yacht, town apartment, suburban home and, of course, in the studio. . . Won't someone call her? . . . You'll find Ken Murray poking around Hollywood this summer for talent to appear on his fall foolies.

Boxer to Comedian . . . Story of Hope

A four letter word that means "stiff competition" for television comedians is Hope, spelled B-o-b-H-o-p-e, probably the No. 1 Candidate for Uncle Miltie Berle's crown.

Inasmuch as both Hope and Berle are NBC Comics, the trophies will stay in the family, but it will be up to an audience of millions of set-owners to decide on whether they think Rapid Robert is funnier, more entertaining, and even more durable than record-breaking Berle.

This week we took a quick look at the fabulous life of the leading contender and discovered the guy making all the noise was a Lester Townes Hope born May 29, 1903 in London, England. His family moved to Cleveland, Ohio, while Bob was still in rompers.

After Hope graduated from school, there were no NBC, CBS or ABC vice presidents waiting to lure him into the big time. Instead, Bob found himself working one day as a clerk in a motor company. His next venture was professional boxing. Not only did his nose get in the way, but Hope got in the way, so he gave boxing up to work as a newspaper reporter (maybe that's where he picked up those gags).

While nosing-for-news, Hope spent his evenings taking tap dance lessons, which finally paid off when "Fatty" Arbuckle gave him the nod. Arbuckle, a silent film star, found himself needing an act for a show while barnstorming the country, and picked up Hope and friend, George Byrne, in Cleveland. It wasn't long after that Hope and Byrne, dancing team extraordinary, were starring in their own vaudeville routine.

One day in 1927, while appearing in Newcastle, Ind., ski-nose was asked by the theater manager to announce the next week's attractions. The audience laughed so long and heartily, Bob decided he was cut out to be a comedian and dropped the dance act. Six years later he obtained stardom in the Broadway production of "Roberta."

It was also about this time that Hope began looking to radio. He got his break in a show with Rudy Vallee and in 1938 became the star of his own program. That same year he played in his first motion picture, "The Big Broadcast," and has been starring ever since in radio and screen, and now TV.

Hope enjoys all sports, but golf—especially with friend Bing Crosby—is his favorite. He is married to the former Dolores Reade. They have four adopted children. Bob is five feet 11 inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes. At first TV technicians thought they'd have to devise a special camera for Hope's famous nose, but his first two special shows proved that cameras can take most anything.

DANCEMASTER TV GUEST

Paul Shahin, Chicago dancemaster and author of books on the art of dancing, has been a frequent TV guest. Last week Shahin appeared on Tom Wallace's WGN-TV show. His first video appearance was in 1940 when he was guest of Zenith's experimental station.

Shahin is author of "Dance and Grow Slender," a $1 Blue Ribbon book available at newsstands. He has also cut records for beginners, "Learn to Dance the Rhumba," which is in album form.

Minute Reviews:

Admiral Talent Hunt: The session we saw had as good talent as any amateur show we've seen in two accordion-filled years of watching TV amateur shows. Jack Herbert has a fine feeling for guiding the youngsters. Definitely an outstanding show of this type.

Saturday Night Party: How did Les Lear get mixed up in a mess like this?

The Public Life of Cliff Norton: Cliff Norton's comedy is a 100 per cent product of Chicago television, is unique, and wonderful. But can't they put this program on at a civilized hour? At 5:55 p.m. everybody is either riding home from work, cooking a meal, washing, reading the paper, eating, or getting a quick one down at the corner.

Robert Montgomery Presents: Chicagoan Richard Kiley's acting in "The Champion" recently was one of the finest pieces of dramatic work on television. This show made him a star.

Murder Before Midnight: If you've wondered what this is, but go to bed too early to find out, it is old movies and long commercials, plus some goon-like character making like a high school kid playing spooks.

Bible Stories: Kay Morrow's narration, using tiny figures and sand, plus Jerry Thorp's choir, form a beautiful way of acquainting children with the Bible. There would be little criticism of television if there were more programs like this one.

Kay Kyser: One word describes Kay Kyser—silly.

Fred Waring: It's a shame this show has to come at the same time as Philco Television Playhouse. Waring has a sparkling bunch of singers and musicians, and manages to combine elaborate production with a pleasant informality that warms the viewer.

Bob and Kay: This is the midday show on which they ring a gong when anything important is going to happen. This is one of the most progressive ideas since the development of commercial television, and if they'd adopt it on more shows we'd be able to catch up on some back sleep, and at the same time miss absolutely nothing of importance.

Candid Camera: Becoming a trifle monotonous. The locale changes, but the situations and reactions usually are identical from show to show.

To Be Announced: One of the most frequent programs on the air, and always good for surprises.

TV Has Changed Granny
Mother dear, why keep a light
Burning late most every night
Mother smiled and said "My pet—
Don't you worry—don't you fret.

That's for Granny—not to stumble
Or to make a lot of mumble
On arriving late at night
From the wrestling and the fight.

Every night she's there to cheer
For the fighters she holds dear,
So cover up your eyes and sleep
For soon we'll hear dear granny creep."

Chicagoans Invent Video Foot Rest

Televiewers have inspired the design of a new type ottoman now on exhibit at the national furniture show, a foot rest known as “Little Otto.” It is the invention of Joan Bering of the Hotel Ambassador and Evelyn Enge, 5520 South Shore Drive.

Denise Darcel, TV and screen star, goes on record as being in love with Little Otto, portable, collapsible foot rest designed by two Chicago women for video viewers.

Made of 7 ply laminated plywood, Little Otto is curved to the contour of the calf of the leg and the ankle. It makes it possible to rock oneself or sit in perfect relaxation while watching one’s favorite teleshow.

Sometime in July, Little Otto will go on sale at Marshall Field and company at a price of under ten dollars.

Miss Enge, formerly a dress designer, coined the name Little Otto (short for ottoman) and brought her idea to Mrs. Bering, wife of Frank Bering, chairman of the board of the Hotels Ambassador and Sherman. She invented the device for her late mother, who had been confined to a wheelchair.

“Television Can Aid Our Children”

One of the outstanding citizens selected for the TV Forecast National Television Review Board is former Olympic star Jesse Owens.

Mr. Owens holds the world record for 100 meters (10.2 sec.), 200 meters (20.1 sec.), 220 yards (20.3 sec.) and broad jump (26’ 8½”). He also holds the Olympic record—won in 1936—for the 200 meter and broad jump.

We went to see Mr. Owens a few days ago at the Leo Rose Clothing Co., where he now holds the position of Executive Director for Sports Activities. We found him to be a tall, lithe, good-looking fellow, with a firm handshake and a very friendly smile. Indeed, Jesse Owens’ most outstanding trait seems to be friendliness; he likes people.

He likes children particularly, and dealing with children is his present job. His company has organized baseball and basketball teams for the children of the community, has provided them with uniforms and equipment, and with trophies for the winners. Mr. Owens feels that these activities are a great aid in combatting juvenile delinquency. “Kids can’t afford to buy uniforms,” he says. “I remember when I was a kid and I know how tough it is. The child has got to feel that he’s important, that he’s wanted. If he can’t feel important in some constructive way, he’s going to do it destructively. Our purpose is to give him some constructive outlet for his energies.”

Mr. Owens feels that television, too, can be of great help to children. He strongly disapproves of the gory scare shows which too often grace the bedtime hour of the younger set. But he believes that shows like Hopalong Cassidy are, on the whole, beneficial. Such programs, he feels, give the child a wholesome figure to look up to and admire, something that all youngsters need.

Mr. Owens is particularly interested in the educational potential of television. “Visual education,” says he, “is really the best kind. Let the children see something with their own eyes and it gives them a better idea of what’s going on.” In this connection he feels that television is one of the most valuable inventions since the telephone.

Jesse Owens has a more personal interest in children. He has three of his own—all girls. The oldest, 17, is studying at Ohio State. The two younger ones are going to elementary school here in Chicago.

“Children are the most important people in the world to me,” he declares. “These children are going to be the future citizens.

Other board members include Mrs. Clifton Utley, Dr. Preston Bradley, Rabbi Louis L. Mann, Mrs. Bryon Harvey Jr., Rev. Donald Masterson, George Jennings, Samuel A. Culbertson II, David Balkin and Robert A. Kubicek.

Troubleshooter — Daniel Flashtcher, 20 month old candidate for Mr. Television of 1970, is shown fascinated by the equipment of a TV repair shop.
"Television is booming and is here to stay," says Miss Winn Wolters, a junior at Evanston high school.

In a recent paper entitled "The Effect of Television on the Life of the American People," Miss Wolters finds that TV is making itself felt in almost every aspect of American life. She finds it exerting its influence on our homes and in our schools; on the amount of time we spend reading and on the amount of time we devote to sports. She finds that it has brought about a change in old methods of teaching especially in the field of medicine; she finds that it is the only mass media which regularly engages the attention of young children.

Perhaps the most interesting part of the essay deals with the question, "What happens when TV comes into the home?" Writes Miss Wolters: "At first the new owners watch TV a great deal, trying to get a taste of all the different programs. Then they gradually taper off. Those people who have had their sets for only two or three months listen to it about 17 hours a week. Those who have had their sets a little longer usually watch about 13 hours a week. Radio listening is also greatly reduced."

Miss Wolters finds that TV owners don't visit their friends as much after they get their sets. Instead, she says, more people come to visit them. She also finds that TV owners don't go out to plays, movies, and sports events as often as before.

But Miss Wolters found movie-going hardest hit. Quoting from a survey made by Radio-TV News Service, she found a reduction of 72% in movie attendance after purchase of a television set. The same survey also showed a 46% reduction in the movie-going of children.

With regard to the influence of television upon the study habits of school children, Miss Wolters discovered conflicting information. Some students, she found, were unable to devote adequate time to studies because of the distracting influence of TV. Others, however, were able to discipline themselves sufficiently to complete their work. As for the opinions of the teachers in this regard, Miss Wolters tells of the principal of a Clifton, N.J. high school who recently blamed television in part for the failure of 169 pupils in a class of 562. "The principal said many were unable to keep their minds on classroom discussions and some fell asleep."

What about the use of TV as an aid to education and the study of TV itself in the schools? Miss Wolters finds that "those who want to start preparing seriously for TV while still in their teens are having a hard time getting a chance." She declares that there are no more than one or two schools in the country "that have put television on the curriculum as well as algebra and geometry." The only schools she is able to find that answer this need are the New York School of Performing Arts, and South Shore high school in Chicago.
"What we need in this office is a television set or something . . . to keep our minds off of work."

TV Exhibit at Museum

Chicagoans are invited to attend the special RCA television exhibit now on display in the Museum of Science and Industry, located in Jackson Park on the city's southside.

Shown at right is a young man examining the Phosphors window. The phosphors, which form the fluorescent coating on the screens of TV picture tubes are displayed to demonstrate how various colors are used to produce a high-quality black and white light.
Baseball Fans Are Amazing

By GEOFFREY HUNTER

We have been slightly amazed by the number of television fans who have such a variety of opinions as to where the Cubs and Sox will finish in the National and American League pennant chases this year.

It has always been suspected that just about anyone who can read has an opinion on the baseball situation and, secretly, almost everyone considers himself an expert. Well, we're looking for experts and so all of you have an opportunity to put yourself in that category.

We have some surprises in store for our winners in addition to the A. G. Spalding & Bros. official league balls so be sure to get your entries into our sports department and we'll do the rest.

One of the University of Michigan coaches has told us a few simple truths about Dick Wakefield, the controversial character who seems to get himself into a hassel every time he opens his mouth.

This coach says that Dick is one of the nicest guys he has ever met. He indicates that Wakefield is extremely kind and generous. He has a penchant for giving away money to worthy causes, particularly for the development of playgrounds and recreational activities for kids. It's true, our informant continues, that the former Detroit and Yankee player has a cockeyed theory about his baseball ability but if the young man had a public relations counselor who would take him in hand and keep Wakefield from shooting off his mouth, the lad might yet turn into the athlete he was touted to be when he first signed with the Detroit Tigers for that $52,000.

Notes: The American League All Stars have conquered the National Leaguers 12 out of 16 times since Tribune Sports Editor Arch Ward staged the first contest during the Century of Progress Exposition back in 1933. . . . Two White Sox played their high school baseball as native Chicagoans. Phil Masi starred at Austin, Herbie Adams at Oak Park . . . Phil Cavarretta is the only native on the Cub roster.

Win an Autographed Major League Ball!

Each week TV Forecast is awarding an American or National League Spalding baseball, autographed by your favorite Cub or Sox player, for the best letter telling where the reader thinks the Cubs or Sox will finish in the National or American League pennant races.

CONTEST RULES
1. An official entry blank must accompany each entry.
2. All entries become the property of TV Forecast, Inc., and will not be returned.
3. Decisions of the judges will be final.
4. The contest is open to all home and news-stand subscribers of TV Forecast.
5. There is no limit to the number of entries each week by an individual.
6. All entries must be signed in the handwriting of the entrant.
7. There is no age limit.
8. All entries must be neatly typed or written.
9. All entries must be postmarked before Friday midnight, June 30.
10. Winners will be announced two weeks after the close of each contest.

That final authority lies with wrestling fans was exemplified in the Buddy “Nature Boy” Rogers—Billy Darnell match a few weeks ago. Rogers was up to his old tricks of unnecessary roughness before the TV cameras as thousands of fans looked on in their living rooms.

During the course of the tussle, irate fans kept the Arena phones ringing constantly with complaints... Still the referee saw nothing and the match was won by Rogers... Loyal Darnell fans did not take it sitting down however.

Mr. Ed Ripple, coworker of Ray Fabiani, said, “Why, we were flooded with telephone calls and deluged with 7,000 letters from fans protesting the rough tactics of Rogers. Some of those letters were very biting. Consequently, the referee was suspended for 30 days and ‘Nature Boy’ Rogers put on probation for a year.”... There you are, fans, use the mighty power of the pen. If you have a complaint, let us know and we may be able to pass it on to where it will do some good.

In his “Wake of the News” column, Arch Ward refers to Lou Thesz and Buddy Rogers as “pachyderms” and wrestling as pure hippodrome. “... But,” continues Ward, “that makes no difference, if the crowd feels it has its money’s worth.”

As far as we know, a hippodrome is an arena for horse shows... What do you think?

This week’s notes: Wrestling promoter Ray Fabiani has added Jack Guy and Man Mountain Dean Jr. to his mat card... The Fabiani-Kohler battle of promoters means only one thing... better wrestling for Chicago fans... Was surprised to learn that Buddy Rogers has not been pinned for a loss for four consecutive years.

We ran into Bad Boy Brown at the LaSalle hotel last week and learned he has two pet tigers given to him by Clyde Beatty... Another collegiate athlete turned pro matman is 24 year old Verne Gagne. While at the University of Minnesota, he was an end on Bernie Bierman’s Golden Gophers and copped numerous collegiate wrestling titles.

When Nanjo Singh, the Hindu, struck a referee, he was suspended in the State of Illinois. Nanjo is currently wrestling in Cleveland.

Win Free Tickets to Rainbo Wrestling!

Ten pairs of tickets are being awarded each week to readers of TV Forecast Magazine writing the best letter of the week on the following subject—

“I would like to see a live wrestling show because............................................”

The contest is open to both men and women readers. Tickets to Rainbo arena are presented to persons whose letters are judged the most original, and interesting. There is no coupon to clip, nothing to buy.

The tickets are being made available thru an exclusive arrangement with Promoter Ray Fabiani and the publishers of this magazine.

Deadline for this week: midnight Wednesday, June 28.

IS YOUR TV SET OBSOLETE?

NO!!

IT CAN BE MODERNIZED

Don't deprive yourself of the full possibilities of your present TV set. NOW, ATC will make your set as modern as new.

★ Re-engineer your set so as to get a much larger picture regardless of the size of your present screen. The most obsolete thing about television is a small screen receiver. Increase your viewing pleasure with a larger screen as installed by ATC.

★ Replace your obsolete single speed record changers with modern 3-speed units capable of superb reproduction on all records. Sets not already equipped with phonographs can be adapted.

★ Add the convenience of headphones for those viewing TV sets late at night. Now many hard-of-hearing people can enjoy television, radio and phonograph reproduction.

Before you buy a new, larger set, call ATC for the facts on these low cost services. A small additional investment will give you an instrument generally far better than any now obtainable. We can give you the best service. Don't be satisfied with less. ATC means guaranteed service, also guaranteed to be available when you need it. You and your set are protected by ATG.

Amateur Psychologist, GI, Win Ducats

Among this week’s winners of TV Forecast’s contest for complimentary tickets to wrestling at Rainbo Arena are a “poor G.I.,” an amateur psychologist, and a grandmother. Each week TV Forecast offers ten pair of free tickets to letters judged to be most sincere and interesting.

Lester Kolour, 3747 W. Douglas Blvd., seeks to discover the underlying causes of the intense emotions displayed by front row wrestling fans. He writes, “... since regularly viewing the televised exhibitions, I have become intrigued by the underlying psychology. I have sought to analyze the intense excitement of front row fans in terms of a vicarious release of tension and aggression on their part through the vehicle of the wrestlers whom they can identify themselves and their frustrations with.”

Forgetting the psychology of emotions, Mrs. David E. Blade, 7227 W. 21st Ave., writes, “... I’d like to see when Don Eagle arrives with his beautiful headdress ... when generous Gorgeous George arrives I could snatch a flower or ‘Georgie Pin’ meeebee.”

Miss Jo Ann Davis of 1922 Grand Ave., Waukegan, Ill., says, “... Everyone one gets tangled up or starts a ruckus, the camera is somewhere else. Furthermore I can watch Drake and Bull when they are out of the ring as well as in, instead of watching Gushing Guss on Broadside Barney’s broadside twisting a leg off. Still I would love to see the Great Lovers, TV or no.”

Frank Kirsch, 3056 N. Kedzie, would risk death for a pair of tickets. He writes, “... I am just a poor G.I. and can’t afford to attend live wrestling ... I think I would fall over dead if I won, but I am willing to take that chance.” (Ed. note. Please don’t, Frank.)

Mr. B. Jones, of 1215 Granville, wants to get a grip off his chest by seeing a live show. Mr. Jones states, “... Why don’t the referees enforce the rules? ... In the match between Buddy Rogers and Superman, the referee should hang his head in shame. Any ref who would allow a man to gouge another man’s eyes until blood is drawn, in my opinion should not be allowed to referee.”

Miss Elaine Baker of Plainsfield, Ill., has romantic inclinations in mind. “I always watch them over TV. I also would like to meet a few of those handsome, single wrestlers,” says Miss Baker. (Ed. note. Perhaps we can arrange it.)

Miss Rose Serrettella, 5451 W. Van Buren, would like to see the humor of it all in person. Rose asserts, “... they remind me of the Keystone comedies of old—lots of thrills and plenty of comedy.”

ROLLER DERBY

Why doesn’t some smart sponsor drop wrestling, put on more Roller Derby? We enjoy your magazine 100%. It’s the best of its kind on the stands today. An article on Roller Derby would be swell.

Chicago, Ill.

HELEN MOSEK

Why one whole page on horse-racing (who cares about it?) and two pages on wrestling, which so many are tired of seeing every nite? Do you think Mr. Hunter or Mr. Mabley could find a line or two on the Roller Derby? It’s such a fine sport and we all enjoy it.

Johnny Desmond of Tin Pan Alley

Miss Lois Lynn of Chicago recently appealed to TV Forecast for assistance in the organization of a fan club for her favorite singer, Johnny Desmond. So this week, in answer to her request and the hundreds of letters from readers, we want to tell you more about the star of “Tin Pan Alley TV,” WGNR-TV program seen Fridays.

If you'd like to become a member of the Chicago chapter, just write a letter to Lois, c/o 2137 North California, Chicago 41. That's easy, isn't it? You’re practically enrolled now in the Desmond Fan club.

When Johnny was chosen to spotlight the new ABC musical memory show, it was not the beginning of a new career for this young and handsome singer, but a continuation of where he left off five years ago.

On “Tin Pan Alley TV,” Johnny introduces the pop music society's top masters, and then adds a touch of nostalgia by rendering the more memorable tunes penned by guests of the evening. Such a show is giving Desmond a chance to dip back into the files of music composed when he was making his initial appearance in the warbling world. And it is giving Chicago viewers an opportunity to see the young man who has caused such a sensation with his songs on the “Breakfast Club,” and his top-selling record “C'est Si Bon.”

The return to fame angle of Desmond reaches back into World War II, when he almost reached the zenith of popular vocalists and then was suddenly eclipsed by the post-war hysteria.

That story actually starts in Detroit, Mich., where he was born in 1921. As a youngster, he played piano, acted and tap danced with various amateur groups. In his 'teens he attended the Detroit Conservatory and organized a vocal quartet composed of three other students and himself.

At Johnny's insistence, Bob Crosby, whose orchestra was filling an engagement at a Motor City Theatre at the time, granted the foursome an audition. Bob came, listened and was so impressed with their smooth style, he signed them to sing with his orchestra and changed their name from the “Downbeats” to the “Bob-O-Links.”

They were later associated with Gene Krupa and during that period in his career Johnny sang a benefit performance for an air force outfit in Oklahoma. Johnny and the air forces were mutually impressed. The period was one of turmoil; America had been attacked by Japan and young Desmond added his name to the list of recruits.

After a brief stint on K.P. duty, he came to the attention of the celebrated band leader, the late Glenn Miller, who gave the vigorous baritone a spot with the official AAF band.

Sent overseas almost immediately following his enlistment, he became an overnight sensation with members of the armed forces and the Allies. In England he was heard weekly over the British Broadcasting company network in a series called “A Soldier and A Song,” and the response included fan mail written in three languages. Among his devoted listeners were the princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. When he was transferred to France he continued to broadcast over the Paris radio and was immediately dubbed “Le Cremair” by the young mademoiselles who swooned in their best Gallic manner.
DEAR BOSS:

What do you think of proposing an Anti-Favorite Night for owners of TV sets?

Here’s the idea, zany as it may be. Advocate a switch to another show, just for one night, say, Sunday for example. At 6 pm, instead of watching the Paul Whiteman revue (if that’s what you watch) try Starlit Time with Holly Harris. She’s a local gal, a real peach, and you’ll probably enjoy the show.

If you’re a Henry Aldrich fan at 6:30, switch to the Carolyn Gilbert musical. It’s different, and Carolyn’s husky voice may do the trick in untying those knots you get from Sunday afternoon chores.

At 7 pm, even though it’s a tough thing to do, switch from Ed Sullivan’s Toast of the Town to Think Fast. There are few women in the world like Eloise McElhone, and she alone is worth watching.

After 9:30, the game suffers a little from variety, since most of the shows are films, but after you’ve experienced such an evening you and the family can compare notes and ask yourself—“Have we been missing anything?”

Probably not, but you’ll never know if you don’t try, and sometimes the suspense is killing.

It’s fun playing games with your TV set, and tends to make an evening’s entertainment more lively. Also, if you have guests you want to leave early, it might be a good way to get them out fast.
